BASKETBALL GAME WITH CENTRAL "Y"

At Association Headquarters on Drummond St.

TO-NIGHT AT 9

Coach Van Wagner's Men Have Many New Plays

The senior basketball team will play an exhibition game with Central Y. M. C. A. to-night at 9 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

The players have been working hard on some new plays that Coach Van Wagner has been teaching them and to-night they will have an opportunity of trying out these new features before using them in the Varsity game next week.

If McGill has to remain in the running for the intercollegiate title, the team must win the game at Toronto on February 2nd, and they are going to win. No effort is being spared to make the team a championship one. The men are getting the combination work down to a fine point and a number of new plays have been introduced. To-night's game will test these and show up any weakness and next week's practices will take care of these. The defence has been greatly strengthened and will be practically impregnable. In short, the team that meets Varsity next week will not be the same team in point of play as was defeated here two weeks ago although its personnel will not be altered. It will be a much better developed organization, a more smoothly running machine.

Practices next week will be held on Tuesday and on Thursday at the Montreal High School.

The final arrangements have been made for the game in Ottawa on the 5th of February. It will be held in the Y. M. C. A. against an all-star team representing the city of Ottawa. A return match will be played, the date of which will be settled when the team is at Ottawa. The games will decide the championship for the Ottawa Valley.

To-night's game will be refereed by Pat Manley. The line up will be as follows:

Forwards: Little and Mendelsohn. Centre: Manson, Guard: Quackenbush and Hilton. Substitutes: Brown, James, and Blumenstein.

ECONOMIC QUESTION TO BE DISCUSSED

Papers on Canadian Problems Will be Read to Economics Club

Economic and political problems are to be the subject of two papers which will be read to the members of the Economics Club at their next meeting, which takes place on Thursday, the thirty-first at 8.15 o'clock. The meeting is to be held in the Smoking Room of the Arts building and will be the first one of the New Year.

The papers are to be read by Everett and Gardner both of whom are honour students in Arts '25 and prominent members of the class. Everett will read the first paper which will deal with economic and political questions in Eastern Canada and the Maritime Provinces while Gardner will express the aims and views in relation to the western section of the Dominion. These papers are certain to be very interesting and furthermore are to deal with questions which are of the utmost importance, not only to statesmen and politicians but to every citizen of Canada.

After the papers have been read the meeting will be thrown open for discussion and, as those who have attended former meetings will testify, there is sure to be some hot discussion and good comment. Many who have heard Gardner speak before will remember that he possesses rather radical views regarding solutions for the Prairie problems.

A good turn out is expected and a number of Professors have already signified their intentions of being present. Among the foremost of these are Dr. Leacock, Dr. Hannan, Dr. Day and Professor Fife. Through the kindness of Dr. Leacock, refreshments are to be served after the meeting which will make a very pleasant addition to the already interesting program.

JUNIOR TEAM IN NEED OF NEW MEN

Practising for Intercollegiate
Meet Next Month

Up till the present McGill's Junior Hockey team remains unbeaten, their final test will come on Monday, when they will meet Loyola College at Loyola Rink. A win resulting from this game will practically assure them of the championship of their section.

If they are victorious it will mean that they will meet the winners of Section "A" of the Junior City Hockey League. Success in these games depends entirely on strengthening the defense which at the present time is the weakest portion of the sextette.

With this in mind Coach Shaughnessy has issued an appeal for new men to try out, for this position. There will be a practice on the hollow rink this afternoon and it is sincerely hoped that all men who are eligible will avail themselves of this splendid opportunity to show their worth.

The forward line is shaping into form very well, Cameron and Abbott shining particularly in all the games so far. Johnson is guarding the nets and proves to be a very efficient goalie. With a good defense this team will be strong contenders for the Junior City Championship.

ECSTASIES AND THRILLS AT INFORMAL

Dancers Like Leaves in an Autumn Wind

UNPRECEDENTED

Strange Appearance of His Nibs "The Devil"

Once again the Union Ballroom was filled with the youth and beauty of the Campus, who tripped the light fantastic toe to the strains of George Cloutiers six-piece Orchestra. Many and long were the encores generously played, by those "melody syncopaters". "Queen Tut" spread her eagle wings over the gay revellers who rivalled the splendours of her days, whilst from the other end of the room the moon smiled as it went, upon the foibles of youth. There was a visitor who has been present in spirit, if not in body, at all the "hops" but last night he appeared in person, the visitor was his "honor the Devil" who peers with greenish eyes and lowering brow upon the merry-makers below from the curtain behind the "jazz hounds" platform.

Mr. Honegger the Cafeteria Manager handled the supper in his usual excellent way. A most delicious supper was served in one sitting which greatly facilitated matters, doing away with the old inconvenience of double sittings. The excellent quality and the taste with which the refreshments were served sent the dancers back to their "contortions" with renewed vigor. The "wassail bowl" which was situated at the head of the stairs in the reading room was always the centre of attraction of a large crowd that could only be drawn away by the melodious strains of a saxophone, played by a master hand and accompanying "Chansonette" or some other melody, equally alluring.

The dance continued into the early hours of the morning, until the notes of the home waltz warned the revelers that a most pleasant evening was drawing to a close.

Great credit is due to the committee that has made possible this series of very successful informals, of which last night was one of the most enjoyable.

Major and Mrs. Stewart Forbes kindly acted as chaperons.

NOTED PHYSICIST SPEAKS NEXT WEEK

Will Explain New Theory
for the First Time

Next week a set of three lectures will be given in the Physics Building, by an illustrious mathematician and physicist, Dr. L. Silberstein, of the Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, New York.

These lectures will deal with the velocity of the stars and nebulae, a subject on which the Doctor is considered quite a high authority. He has recently advanced a new theory, the result of extensive investigation and careful observation, to explain certain bodies, apparently nebulae, which are too far away for accurate observation. These may possibly be isolated groups of stars, or "Island Universes", and as far as it is known, the groups may be moving directly away from the earth, at very high speeds.

Dr. Silberstein's theory, which will help to elucidate the subject, will be given at length, probably for the first time, in the course of these lectures, and should prove interesting to everyone at all interested in the subject, as well as instructive to those less familiar with it.

The talks are being given particularly for the layman, and unnecessary use of technical terms, will be rigidly avoided.

Dr. Silberstein has already spoken several times at the University. Besides frequent speeches, he has written copiously on Mechanics, Relativity, Spectra, and allied subjects, concerning various tranches of Mathematics and Physics.

All who are interested young the lines of the course, should not fail to hear such an eminent speaker. The lectures will be given at 5 p.m. on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, January 30th, to February 1st, in the MacDonald Physics Building.

He: "It wouldn't be much trouble for us to marry. My father is a minister you know."

She: "Well, let's have a try at it anyway. My dad's a lawyer."

Both will be present at the missionary luncheon to be held in Strathcona Hall to-day at 10 o'clock. The luncheon is for a limited number and is intended for those people in the University particularly interested in Foreign Missions. A few places are still open and may be had by calling at the Hall office before noon.

Hugh MacMillan will be a guest at Strathcona Hall for several days. Any such are cordially invited to call and see him at any time.

FOREMOST CRITIC WILL GIVE TALK

S. Morgan-Powell of Montreal "Star" Will Address Staff

On next Thursday evening the "Daily" staff will have the opportunity of hearing one of America's foremost dramatic and literary critics, when Mr. S. Morgan-Powell will give a short talk on some phases of newspaper work. Because of his work in the field of literary and dramatic criticism he is well known not only to Montrealeers but to undergraduates from all over Canada and the States. Some time ago, the staff had the pleasure of hearing one of the editors of the Montreal Star, Mr. Archibald on the subject of newspaper work, and no doubt will be glad to hear that a second member of that famous journal will give an address. The address will be given in the "Daily" office at 7.30 Thursday evening, and no urging should be necessary to have a hundred per cent attendance.

MONTREAL, SATURDAY, JANUARY 26, 1924.

THE STUDENT ATTACKS THE STUDENT

There have been many editorials written regarding the shortcomings of the college student but it is perfectly safe to say that the majority of the criticisms have appeared in the columns of university publications. It has been alleged many times that the average undergraduate is an indifferent sort of a human, taking little or no interest in the general affairs of the world. The most recent attack to come to our notice was published in the Toronto Varsity of January the twenty-second, that paper dropping a gentle and timely hint that many students are "unobservant and lazy." The writer of the Queen City Campus commends conferences as giving an added stimulus to the discussion of outside events but continues:

"The fact remains, however, that the student body as a whole is shockingly ignorant of current happenings. That they are moulding the history of the world. The murder trial in a neighbouring district, a local election (if one's father is acquainted with the candidate) or the picture of this year's carnival queen will drag us to the morning paper when nothing else will! To-day's events in Parliament are unintelligible one says. Certainly—so was Sherlock Holmes before one learned to read. The comparison is not as foolish as it seems, for there is a similarity between Parliament and Dr. Holmes in that one never knows what each will do next, nor how each will influence someone's existence. But there is this difference, that Sherlock Holmes is only interesting, while Parliament should be vitally so.

"The question of the importance of a political intelligence arises. The college student is the next generation of law makers, and in so far as he is capable so will the country of the next decade be enriched.

"If he is specializing in chemistry he may not be able to define a Soviet correctly, but surely there is no excuse for not recognizing the names of Canadian political leaders. Soon the student must take his part in the election of these politicians. Can he do so satisfactorily unless he keeps himself informed of political doings? Yet he asks why he should waste his time reading the papers!

We fear that The Varsity's criticisms contain a very great element of truth but as long as students attack themselves there is reason for hope. Self-complacency is one of the most deadly of diseases.

CONDENSED COMMENT

The informal dance held last night in the Union, proved, as the opening social event of the new term, a decided success. The large number present, excellent music, refreshments and dancing conditions made everything ideal. The committee who made the necessary arrangements are to be congratulated for their work in handling the dance in such an efficient manner.

AROUND THE WORLD FOR FIFTEEN CENTS.

Traveling 27,000 miles without a dollar! That is what Ralph E. Mumma of Cleveland, former student of Ohio State University, accomplished in a little more than seven months.

A desire to run in the American marathon at Boston last April started Mumma on his travels. Unable to finance the journey he boarded a "side-door Pullman" at Cleveland and got to Boston, having spent but 15 cents, which he says must have gone for "cats" as he could remember no other occasion for the expenditure. Mumma did not win the race, but he wasn't ready for home yet. He wanted to see New York and accomplished this desire by the same means he used going to Boston. Here he made an acquaintance in a ship-board office with two young fellows of like ambitions but without affluence.

All three shipped on the fifth of April on the Kerr Steamship Company's tramp freighter, Nle. Mumma as a fireman at $65 a month, ham-mock and chow. A lucky fireman on an oil-burner ship!

They traveled through Spain, Africa, Egypt, Turkey, Syria, Palestine, Arabia, India, Strait Settlements, China, Japan, Sumatra, Java, and Celebes. While in Egypt, Mumma visited the Egyptian museum containing some of "King Tut's" belongings, the Pyramids, and the tombs of the sacred bulls, Ing Pti, and others.

The trip was not without dangers as the natives of Sumatra attacked four of the sailors including Mumma, with long knives. It seems some of the sailors had given in trade for bananas and pineapples tobacco coupons telling the natives they were a species of American money. When the fraud was learned the tribe immediately sought revenge upon those sailors in sight. The four succeeded in fighting their way back to the ship without serious injury although their clothes were ruined.

Another such rumpus occurred in Bombay, India. A bargain had been made with a cert driver to haul nine of the sailors to a place for a certain sum. When the journey was but half completed the driver demanded more money, which led to a little argument. The police were called and all quoted on the agreement of the driver to cut his price. Nor was the journey without discomfort as sometimes it was as hot as 150 degrees in the fire hole, but for all this Mumma wouldn't take a dollar a mile for his trip. "It's a great world," he says, "and there's no place like home."

"Where did you become acquainted with your present husband?"

"I was out walking with my first husband when my present husband ran over him with his motor car. That was the beginning of a beautiful friendship."

—Exchange.

Ham: "Is this the woodenware department?"

Sandwich: "Yes."

Ham: "I dunno if I am in the right department."

Sandwich: "What do you wish?"

Ham: "A lipstick for my wife."

—Exchange.

Mother: "Hattie, I hope that you stand on your dignity with your boy friends."

Hattie: "Oh yes, while I was at Biloxi this summer several fellows kissed me on the forehead and I always called them down."

—Exchange.

"You can say what you like about jazz music, but it keeps lots of people out of jail."

"How come?"

"Well, if it wasn't for the music they would be arrested."

After a discussion it was decided to hold the banquet next Thursday night at seven o'clock in Kerhulu and Odian restaurant on St. Denis street. The society have been given the privilege of a private dining room and as the quality of the food served there is well-known, there is every prospect of a great time to be had by all who attend the function.

The president explained that the dinner is not by any means an official one, and there will be no special speaker there. It is just an informal banquet for the Society, any member of which is privileged to attend. A similar banquet was held last year and was a great success. In conclusion, the president expressed the hope that the members would endeavour to make this coming one as good, if not better, by all turning out.

BASKETBALL DISCUSSED AT R.V.C.A.A.

Question of Admitting a Fourth Member to the League
TROPHIES GIVEN
Western University Delegates to be Invited to Meet

Yesterday at 1 p.m. the R.V.C.A.A. Athletic Association met to consider the advisability of inviting Western University to enter the Intercollegiate Basketball League. The meeting was of the opinion that Western University should not be admitted this year; but that they be invited to send two delegates to the Intercollegiate Meet to be held in February at Kingston, to discuss what could be done next year.

Before the discussion on this matter the president presented two R.V.C.A.A. to Miss Fraser, '24, and Miss E. Dunton, '25. The 'B's' for class basketball were won by the following members of Fourth Year:

E. Russell, P. Murray, C. Fraser, M. Cameron, E. Basken, and M. Pennington.

Then small silver cups were presented as individual basketball trophies to the girls who represented R.V.C.A.A. in Intercollegiate basketball last year. Z. Slack, P. Murray, E. Russell, E. Dunton, R. Dunton, E. Slackman, M. Leggett, J. Spier, and M. Pick. Miss Slack, on behalf of the team, thanked the Athletic Association for the trophies and expressed their regret at being unable to play again this year for R.V.C.A.A.

Miss Russell was then asked to present the facts concerning the admission of Western U. to the League. Queen's were not willing that this fourth team be admitted as they were unable to billet a third team and their travelling expenses would be too great. They suggested inviting two delegates from Western U. to the Intercollegiate meet at Kingston. Toronto were also unwilling to admit them and questioned the wisdom of inviting two delegates. Western U. then offered to pay all their own expenses, and be responsible for their own billeting. Toronto and Queen's were still unwilling on the grounds that it would not be in keeping with the league to have its teams on an unequal basis.

The meeting was then asked for its opinion. It was pointed out that the Association were not in a position to pay more travelling expenses and receive less rate receipts. It was then moved that Western University should not be admitted to the league this year but that they should send two delegates to Kingston. The committee from R.V.C.A.A. was given full power to deal with the question.

DENTS. 1. WIN HARD GAME FROM COM. 1.

13-11 Score Shows Close Contest in Fresh-Soph. Fixture

In a scheduled game of the Inter class basketball league played last night in Molson Hall, Dents 1 defeated Commerce 1 in a close and exciting game, 13-11.

As the score indicates, play was very even. The game was fast from beginning to end, and brilliant play featured throughout.

The first half ended with Commerce ahead by 3-7. The second period saw Dents making desperate efforts to get the ball in the basket, and the Commerce men playing coolly and remarkably good in defence. It was a long time before scoring opened in this half, but after a penalty shot against the Dentsists, scoring began with a vengeance, and Dents had their opponents beaten in the last few minutes of play. Defence on both sides was good and in the forward also performed in great style. Thompson starred for Commerce, while Berwick showed up well in the Dents side. The teams lined up as follows:

WHY HONOUR SYSTEM IS IN UNIVERSITIES

Merits and Defects of System in U.S. Colleges
FACULTIES OPPOSE
Student Body Not Willing to Take Full Responsibility

Texas University is not the only place where the honor system has aroused discussion recently as to its merits and the attitude students hold toward it. The question has come up at different times this year at most of the large universities of the country. Cornell has for some time been urging the matter for serious student consideration with only mediocre success.

Oklahoma University put the retention of the system to a vote after a discussion started by an inflammatory denunciation by an Oklahoma ex. The college decided to keep it up, but voted to enforce it more strictly.

Faculty Members Oppose System at Wisconsin.

At Wisconsin, where the students are "policed" by instructors during examinations, student agitation in favor of a restoration of the honor system which was in force there a few years ago was unsuccessful.

The honor system cannot be successful in any group and certainly not in such a large and mixed group as that of a middle west university, opined Dean Goodnight of that school, "unless the students are unanimously in favor of abiding by all clauses of it."

Feeling among students was not sufficiently high to over-ride this faculty objection, and the matter rests there.

"If You Don't Crib You Have Queer Upper Story"

One of the most startling indictments ever made against the honor system was made by Charles Hickok in a letter to the Oklahoma Daily. He recommended that the system be abolished, saying "if you don't crib you have a queer twist in your upper story."

He also scores instructors for grading on personality instead of actual classroom achievement.

"Dishonest students," says Hickok, "like it because it enables them to cheat comfortably; honest students are indifferent to others while they abide by it."

Following his charges which appeared in the Oklahoma Daily, the matter was put to a vote and was kept by only a narrow margin.

Michigan Violators Have Names Publicly Posted

At the University of Michigan publicity is being used to combat dishonesty, and students who cheat face the penalty of being placed on probation and having their offense printed in the official bulletin column of the Michigan Daily.

Honor System passing Severe Trial at Cornell

"The honor system is passing through its most severe trial since its inauguration at Cornell" says the Cornell alumni news "The one salient fact about the system is that more violations of it have been reported by faculty members than by students, which shows its standing among the students."

"The faculty on the whole has had less to say about honesty on examinations than under the old system, and the students have thereby been deprived of a certain amount of wise guidance. However, there are growing evidences that the students and faculty are getting together, and a possible solution appears."

Baylorites Also Fail To Report Cases

The much mooted honor system has also come in for its share of failing at Baylor, where however it was retained. Baylor experiences the same difficulty that other colleges do in getting students to report cases they have observed.

Sanitized at Illinois for Inefficiency

"The honor system at Illinois is no more," prints the Illinois Alumni news. "The university senate has voted out the system, following recommendations of the council of administration and of the student honor commission. The old proctor plan of examinations will be resumed."

"Experience has proved that the students will not report the violations, leaving this entirely to the faculty. Inexpert administration and general inefficiency on the part of the students on the council added to the impracticability of it."

"Students simply won't squeal on one another."

The talk about the Honor System here in Oberlin will have to result in some action on the part of the students if we are to avoid the unhappy prospect of returning to the old form of faculty supervision. Cornell used the Honor System for a number of years and was forced to give it up just recently. The University of Illinois has done likewise. Baring all facts, it is obvious that the system is not being supported here in Oberlin and the students seem to avoid taking aggressive action in bringing about the support that is necessary in keeping the system with us.

Over forty students were consulted

SWIMMERS READY FOR COMPETITION

Practice To-day in Hollow Rink at 1 o'clock

The Aquatic practice at the K. of C. baths yesterday evening showed fine form in all departments. A good many were there, all the regulars and some new material. The practice was in preparation for the big Intercollegiate meet on February 8 and 9.

Clairholm, Ross and Vickerson were prominent in the fifty-yard dash, while Belhel and Anderson did the fifty-yard breast-stroke. Ross and Vickerson showed good form in the hundred yards. The time in all these trials was very good, and hope of winning at the meet runs high.

Several players made good distance in the plunging trial.

The Polo players also held a practice in which the same good form as in previous matches was in evidence. McGill will line up the same team that won the championship last year. It will be picked from the following men:

Vernot, Ross, Anson, Forsyth, Jardine, Vickerson, Moore, and Murphy.

In short, the McGill Aquatic Team is in the best of form for the meet on February 8 and 9. Tickets will be put on sale shortly, at the Union, and prices of admission are as follows:

Reserved Seats: McGill Students, 55 cents; Outsiders, 75 cents.

Rush Seats: 35 cents all round.

In regard to their opinions of the present system and the following facts were gained:

1.—All students knew that we had the Honor System here in Oberlin, but few knew the responsibilities assumed.

2.—Most of the students agreed that it was a fine thing and fostered honesty.

3.—One student out of the forty said that he would speak to an offender and then report him on second offence. The others either did not commit themselves or deliberately said that honor was a personal matter and that they would never report a case of dishonesty.

Under the present system the students have asked the faculty to allow them to take complete charge of the honor of the student body. The faculty willingly did this and it must be said that what is known of Honor Court action is fully in agreement with the understanding between faculty and students. But the mere fact that the third clause of the Honor Code, "the students assume the responsibility to report cases of dishonesty to the Honor Court" is a responsibility that the students are not assuming and which points directly to the return to faculty supervision.

Before the faculty see fit to take action, it is suggested that groups of thinking students attempt to thrash this problem through and come to an agreement on the course of action which will put the system on its feet. Ideally the system should extend into the social life of Oberlin, but it must first make a successful step into the academic life.

CHRISTIANS IN TURKEY SUFFER MUCH

Description of Captivity in Bunarbasha

THE ARMENIANS

Made Victims of Brutal Lusts of Turkish Soldiers

Graphic word pictures of what it means to be a Christian in Turkey were presented to the Student Volunteer Movement Convention at Indianapolis by J. Kingsley Birge through means of a letter received from an Armenian student. Dr. Birge of the International College, Smyrna, was there during the disaster. He is known as one of the heroes of that dreadful time.

The letter will give Americans a better idea of the spirit of the Armenians and the things which they suffer, than most anything that could be written. Dr. Birge spoke on the Moslem world and in closing presented the letter, as follows:

"I think I can not describe better to you the meaning of what it is to be a Christian in Turkey and to carry their the message of the Christ than to read a letter that was sent to me by a young Armenian boy, a boy who had been driven out of Silem when the French withdrew from there and the Turks entered, who came to our college in Smyrna and when the Turks came into the city last summer was driven forth with the others, the city being burned, 300,000 of its Christian population being sent off to an alien land, the young men of eighteen to forty-five all being taken away, their clothes largely stripped from them, to face the hard ordeal of a winter in the far interior."

"This boy, after he was sent off there and after he was freed in response to a petition that we sent in to the general commanding the western front, wrote me this letter describing his own experience:

"On the third day of our captivity in a place called Bunarbasha the Turkish soldiers robbed us of all our clothings and money. They left us half naked and barefooted. We all, terrified, tears in our eyes, waited in fear the hour on which we thought they would kill us."

"Just twenty-four hours later the soldiers came and they took whatever we had—shoes, shirts, coats, combs, looking glasses. They led us to a mountain where on our left and our right we saw corpses swollen and stinking, others buried in pits, their arms being left out of the pit black and putrefied."

"While climbing the mountain the soldiers shot and killed three prisoners in our group. The peasants rushed on us and asked the soldiers to sell us to them for from twenty to fifty piasters that they might kill us on that mountain."

"We all began to run forward on the sharp rocks and stones, barefooted, fearing the soldiers who killed the three prisoners behind us. That night we fifty-two prisoners—thirty-two college students and servants and twenty others—were crowded into a stable where took place an inexplicable and unimaginable crime which my mouth and my pen are constrained not to tell and not to write. Oh! The horror of that cursed night, to see the Christian young men seventeen to eighteen years old being made victims to the brutal lusts of the Turkish officers and soldiers."

"The next day we reached Manassa. There in the barracks officers from Silem, knowing that we were 20 Armenian students, beat us with iron rods. A little later they undressed us altogether and began to scourge us naked."

"Then they turned us over to the Fourteenth Battalion of the civil prisoners in Manassa, all bare-footed and in rags, one and one-half months exposed to the severe cold and showery rain of winter; ice swarming over us, bread and horse beans our daily food. We suffered very much, working all day long at various kinds of hard labor."

"Knowing the Turkish language pretty well I became the secretary to our regiment and only myself had been exempted from work. Thank God, after one and one-half months, we were sent for us, so that our conditions began to be bettered, but the other prisoners, hopeless and faithless, many even denying the existence of God, suffered more than we suffered."

"And for this very reason I am glad, even though I suffered much, that I was prisoner as a Christian young man to comfort and exhort those poor prisoners, that I could show them the loving spirit of Jesus by which they were strengthened to bear the strain of life, that as their secretary I could show them the spirit of prayer and helpfulness."

"Moreover, I am glad that I could work among the Turkish guards, whose hands were tinged with the innocent blood of our Christian brothers. I wrote their letters and their applications, I read their newspapers and

ARCHITECTS ARE BEATEN BY MEDS.

Med. '26 Win by 3-2 Score in Fast Game

Med. '26 triumphed over Architecture in an Inter-Class hockey fixture by a score of 3-2 on the Campus rink last night. The game was remarkably fast, considering that the ice was in a rather soft condition, and there was a high wind. There were plenty of thrills. The fast pace was kept up during the whole game. 'The Archies' goalie did good work, and was kept busy most of the time. He was in the midst of several exciting mix-ups around the nets when players were piled up in front, and nobody seemed to know where the puck was. On the whole the two teams showed a good deal of hockey, though the checking was heavy at times. There was one minor penalty. The unfortunate referee received a nasty clout in the face by accident near the end of the first half, but was able to continue. Code worked hard at centre for Architecture and Menzies and Harding showed up well for the Meds.

The game started snappily when Medicine scored the first goal. Code soon evened the score by notching one for Architecture, following it up a few moments later with another. Towards the end of the period, Meds. tied the count again.

The play eased up somewhat in the second half, with the Architects being for the most part the aggressors, but good work by Med. defence men prevented them scoring. In the last ten minutes the Meds. scored what proved to be the winning goal and held back their opponents until the final whistle. The final score was 3-2 for Medicine '26.

There was quite a crowd of enthusiastic supporters for Medicine.

their letters, I ate with them, blessing the tables by the Lord's prayer in Turkish. I exhorted them, told them that they, being liars, immoral men and drunkards, were not even true Moslems, and I am glad that they confessed their sins and accepted what I told them as the truth.

DON'T BE DISCOURAGED

Don't be discouraged. Some people have to be told this almost every day. They seem to have the habit and need practically no cause to plunge them into the deepest abyss of misery. Only constant self-training will cure this characteristic. It is certainly worth the effort; otherwise the persons will find themselves sadly handicapped when they try to compete with their more optimistic brothers.

It may be said that some people are born discouraged and others have it thrust upon them. We have just spoken of the former. There are others who have some basis for their feelings. They are flunking several courses, are "on the rocks financially," or something else of some importance to them is going wrong.

They make a very excusable error. The closeness of their misfortune obscures their vision. The event assumes an importance all out of proportion to its true significance. We are all prone to do this. College life becomes a world in itself. We forget that there is a big world outside with problems and troubles that would show up the smallness of our own.

In this connection newspapers fill a valuable function. Every student should make a practice of reading a certain amount of world news every day. It will give him a perspective and is one way to ward off that rather egotistical frame of mind that lays us open to the attacks of discouragement.

Furthermore, there is no one such a hopeless failure in college that he can never hope to be a success in later life. Let the man who is flunking courses think of great men who have not found their aptitude for years. Let the financial wreck think of the men who have gone into bankruptcy past middle-age and won back a fortune before they have died. A college student has no right to be discouraged!

Like: "Swim out here fadder, I'm sinking."

Abe: "I can't swim. Throw Papa your watch and I'll pray for you."

DANCING IS ART OF SELF EXPRESSION

M.S.P.E. Hear Paper by Mrs. Melville

CLASSIC DANCE

Much Time and Practice Needed to Acquire Technique

"The question what is dancing—may be answered in many ways. It is not an evil as some should have us believe, but it is a Primary Art, an art of self-expression. Dancing is Life itself. These were the opening words of a paper read by Mrs. Melville, well-known teacher of Denishawn and Ballet dancing, to the M. S. P. E., at the Physical Education Hostel on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Melville is a graduate of the Denishawn School of Dancing of New York and the M. S. P. E. were very fortunate to have her speak to them as she is very much in demand by enthusiasts of "The Dance".

In her paper, Mrs. Melville said that the dance uses the human body as its medium. Love, Hate, Fear, Courage, Joy, Sorrow, Happiness, also the stories of the Universe, birds, flowers, Sun, etc., are expressed in the movements of the Italian dancer. Pavlova tells us not to forget that physical perfection without mental and spiritual co-operation is like a body without a soul, or flowers without perfume.

Mrs. Melville then read parts from "The Dance of Life"—by Havelock Ellis, in which he describes the Classical Dance as having its origin in Egypt, not, as most people think, in Greece. In fact Greece was one of the last countries to share in the development and perfecting of the Classical Dance. Italy is the home of the Romantic Dance or Ballet, although it reached its perfection in Russia and the Russian Ballet is now known all over the world.

In early Christianity, the dance formed part of the Church Service. Meetings had to be held in secret and it is probable that dancing took the place of a choral celebration. Even to-day there is a church in Seville which has a dance as part of its ceremony.

Mrs. Melville maintained that the reason European countries produce the best dancers is because people there give their lives to the study of dancing whereas Americans have not the patience required. They think that in a short time they can become good dancers.

Technique is the foundation of all dances and teaches the control of mind over body. Years of hard work are necessary before one can become a real good dancer.

"If we are indifferent to the Art of Dancing, we have failed to understand the supreme manifestations of the physical life and the supreme symbol of spiritual life."—Mrs. Melville's closing words.

After a hearty vote of thanks had been tendered Mrs. Melville, a social hour was spent and tea was served.

COMMERCE SENIORS WIN FROM ARTS '25

The Arts '25 team went down to defeat last night on rather poor ice in their scheduled game with Commerce '24. Neither team displayed very fast hockey, as the soft ice and warm weather were an effective damper to a good display. The Commerce team showed better teamwork than their opponents and by the end of the third period had pretty well left them behind, finishing up with a score of 4-0. The Arts men, nevertheless, worked hard throughout and forced their opponents to the limit. The chief lights on the winning team were Robertson and Marpole. The Commerce lineup follows:

Goal: Wilson; Defence: Robertson, Starker; Forwards: Seale, Morris, Marpole.

LALENT

OR THE RACE-TRACK BLUES

By Playden & Lost

To the tune of "When You and I Were Young, Maggie"

I wonder today on the bills, Maggie
And watch our accounts grow.
The five and the ten dollar bills,
Maggie.

Are memories of long ago.

The green-backs are gone from my hip, Maggie,
To the winds they have been flung,
The ponies got them all, Maggie.
When you and I were stung.

They say I cannot pick them, Maggie,
My choices are also ran,
But you know as well as I do, Maggie,
I'll play them as long as I can.

The fleeting years have slipped by,
Maggie,
And the only song we've sung,
Is about the day at the track, Maggie,
When you and I were stung.

Nell: "Jack is not a bit polite."
Bill: "How so?"
Nell: "Every time I tried to say a word to him at the football game, he would shout, 'Hold that line!'"

SUPPLEMENTALS LOWER STANDING

Opinion of Noted Toronto
Professor

Much opinion has been given concerning supplemental examinations. According to Dr. Biehn of Toronto, the abolishing of supplementals would help to increase the standard of the university greatly. Statistics of Toronto Varsity show that this would be the case:

Under the new system the earnest student will be a little more earnest in June, while the indifferent student will be kept out. There is one type of deservingly student who will unfortunately suffer, but past experience has shown that this tightening of regulations is in the best interests of the University. In 1922, the year before the more stringent regulations came into effect there were 351 students with complete entrance requirements, who wrote on the first year final examination, 147 probationers and 105 members of the second year who had been started the year before. This compares with 294 complete requirements, 74 probationers and 87 second year stars in 1923. These figures only tell of the direct results of the tightening of the requirements, but they become more significant when placed alongside the figures showing the results of these examinations. Of the 554 complete students in 1922, 46.8 per cent. passed, as compared with 54 per cent. of the 294 in 1923. In 1922, 30 per cent. were started in one subject or more, the same figure holding true for 1923, but the most important part comes to light when it is seen that whereas in 1922, 23.4 per cent. failed completely, in 1923 only 16 per cent. were placed. Of the probationers 25.2 per cent. passed in 1922, 27.3 per cent. were started and 47.5 per cent. passed, 53.2 per cent. were started, but only 27 per cent. failed. The figures of the second year do not mean so much because the second year in 1923 was the first in 1922, nevertheless it shows that the students work harder. In 1922 46 per cent. passed their stars while 54 carried them on, for 1923, 56.3 passed and 43.7 failed.

The stricter regulation therefore will help to keep registration down to the more earnest student and raise the university standards.

THE PURPOSE OF COLLEGE

To avoid the common error of expecting a college to make a wise man out of a dullard, or a high-class citizen out of a naturally inferior person, we must understand the meaning of the word "educate." So writes F. D. Farrell in a recent editorial in the Kansas Industrialist.

The word "educate," he says, comes from a Latin expression meaning "to lead out" or "to draw out." Thus, it originally meant a leading out or a drawing out of talents already possessed by the person to be educated. To quote Mr. Farrell:

"Education stimulates a person's inherent powers in a thousand ways. It quickens him by helping him to discover and to develop his possibilities, and by showing how his powers can be used to promote the welfare of society, and thus to increase his own happiness. One of the greatest pleasures comes from consciously increasing the happiness of one's fellows. There are many ways in which one may do this. He may write a splendid book, produce a beautiful new flower, build a fine highway, discover a great truth, develop a superior variety of plant, or compose excellent music. His ability to do any of these things largely depends on whether he has the necessary native power, and on whether that power has been awakened and his mind and spirit disciplined.

"Education does not give a person the right to live without working. Rather, it increases one's obligation to work harder and to do for society many important things which usually cannot be done by the uneducated."

It would be well for students to consider these facts. It is a simple matter for a person to waste four or more years of his life while laboring under the impression that he is being educated. Perhaps if a student realized in what ways a college education increases his opportunities, he would exercise more care in choosing his courses and would try to lead a more rounded life while in school. Such a student would make more progress and would get a great amount of pleasure out of his work in later years.

Going to college is not a guarantee of success in the years to follow. Yet it is a great help if one understands its purposes and makes the proper use of its opportunities.—Wisconsin Daily Cardinal.

A co-ed at the University of Kansas has started a date-making agency as an aid to paying her expenses through college. For twenty-five cents she will arrange a date for any girl, satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

GOVERNMENT PARTY HAVE GREAT PLANS

Liberal-Labour Ministry
Bringing Forth Strong
Foreign Policy

GREAT EXCITEMENT

Opposition Still an Unknown
Quantity

Great excitement will reign over the coming week prior to the re-opening of Mock Parliament on Tuesday night at 8.15 p.m. sharp. The Liberal-Labour party have a particularly strong cabinet while the Opposition still seem uncertain, but who knows? They may have something up their sleeve that will prove disastrous to the Government.

Bert Wells, the leader of the Liberal-Labour party, has included in his Government able representatives from both the old parties. The main project and first task of the newly-formed Ministry will be to bring about some sort of stability in Europe. It has long been urged from the rank and file of the party that order in Europe is essential if prosperity is to be restored at home. The leaders have hearkened unto the cries of their supporters and appear to have committed themselves to a foreign policy of a very strong order. The first step will be the full recognition of the Soviet Government of Russia. To this end a bill will be introduced and piloted through the House by the Hon. Arthur O. Lloyd, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and seconded by the Hon. Bernard Cohen, Minister of Finance. This bill, it seems, is the outcome of unofficial conversation carried on between the leader of the Russian Trade delegation and the members of the diplomatic corps. The terms, which are approved of by the Soviet Government, have met with general acceptance by the cabinet.

Little opposition is anticipated by the Government. The other party in its customary manner has laid its plans in deep secrecy. There are rumours that all is not well in the ranks of the opposition and it is being whispered that the moderate wing of the party remains sullenly inactive. The triumphant passage of the Government's popular measure is assured. Letters of felicitation are pouring to the Prime Minister from all sides. In all parts of the country Chambers of Commerce as well as trade unions heavily endorse the Government's measure, while various women's organizations have been passing resolutions in its support.

The speaker on Tuesday night will be the Hon. Natchbald Hugeson. Various other points of controversy have been agreed upon by the leaders of the two parties but these are not known as yet.

The following is a list of the Ministers:

Prime Minister and President of the Council, H. Wells.
Minister of Justice, E. C. Common.
Minister of Finance, Bernard Cohen.
Secretary of State for External Affairs, Art. Lloyd.

Minister of Militia and Defence, W. Kellaway.

HELLO!

Overhead the sky is gray.
Murky clouds
Drift dimly by.
A drizzling rain falls.
The sidewalks are wet.
The people are gloomy,
Their heads are hidden
In the collars of their coats.
They pass me by in a silence
But little less grim
And gloomy
Than the weather.
But one says
"Hello!"
And smiles.
Then as I go along
The clouds break,
The rain stops,
And a little ray of sunshine
Peeps through Golden and glorious!

I'd rather go
To see my queen,
Than take a trip
To see the dean!

I'd rather sleep
Than go to class,
I'd rather, but
I can't, alas!

For if I hope
To get thru
I'll have to work
And study, too.

But if I'm always
With my queen,
When mid-year comes
I'll see the dean.

PROF. YOHAN MASIH LECTURED ON INDIA

Many Heard Interesting
Course by Noted Theologian

A great many students enjoyed the course of five lectures given by Professor Yohan Masih during the last week. Though this course was continued on the curriculum of the Co-operative Theological Colleges, the general public was invited and many people from outside the university attended. The fact that the attendance increased with each lecture showed their interest.

By means of his lectures, Professor Masih was able to bring his hearers into very close contact with India. As a native of India who had wide experience with all classes of people there, he was able to discuss every side of Indian life and problems. In his first lecture he spoke on the origin of the Indian peoples, and in subsequent ones he spoke on the conditions of India to-day.

Professor Masih was born in India. He became converted and joined the Malva Theological College, at Indore, Central India. He is now acting principal of that college. He has come to Canada on a tour of lectures on India, and is attending the World Mission Conference at Emmanuel Church in this city.

The summary of his lectures given at the Presbyterian College is as follows:

- (1) India and her peoples.
- (2) The Soul of India.
- (3) Women of India.
- (4) Dawn of Christianity in India.
- (5) National Awakening in India.

STUDE DEVISES UNIQUE MEANS TO DARN CASH

Columbus, O.—Since the days of Socrates and Plato, college students have devised many unique ways and means of earning cash, but rumors from Ohio State University give Jean, George Broady the celluloid sledge hammer for work along that line.

Broady's means for earning expenses is none other than selling his life blood. Eight times in a period of two months he has undergone blood transfusion primarily to help patients in Columbus hospitals and secondarily to add to his income. All told he has given up five quarts of blood which he claims has netted him $500.

According to Broady he suffered no ill effects after the transfusions except a greatly increased appetite although on one occasion he gave up nearly a quart.

Broady hails from Plains, Kansas, and was induced to offer his blood through reading of transfusion elsewhere.

Jack: "Will you go to a show with me tonight?"

Jack: "Well, when they bring it back will you go?"

Lawyer: "I'm sorry, but I'm afraid there'll be a good deal of publicity connected with your divorce."

A MIDNIGHT RENDEZVOUS

COMMENCING next Monday evening, January 28th the Cafeteria will be kept open until midnight. For those of you who usually go out for a light lunch after an evening's study, for that after-the-show hunger and for that emptiness which follow a hockey game. I shall have ready a variety of delicious "snacks, hot drinks and light luncheon dishes.

THE UNION CAFETERIA

will I hope, become your rendezvous at night. Frankly, this is an experiment and the measure of its success will be determined by your patronage. To the advantages of convenience of location and wholesome food will be added that of smaller cost. Compare the Union prices with what you have been paying and you have an additional reason for patronizing your own Cafeteria. On Monday night we shall probably use the Grill Room and you will be served at tables. Thank you.
